Yoder Airport is Closing

Forest Yoder has been around airplanes for most of his life. He came to one of our monthly meetings last year to inform the group that the airport that has been such a big part of his life was going to be closed. June of 2010 will be the final month of operation for Yoder Airport.

The airport has been the location of the NCLF picnic in August and Forest has always been very accommodating to the group in allowing us to hold it there. A big "THANK YOU" goes out to him and his wife Ruth for their hospitality for all picnics past.

After the closing of the field in June, there will be the big, ugly "X" on the runway, marking it as closed. If you have any desire to fly into the airport one last time, you need to make plans sooner than later.

Gyrobee Getting Close to Completion

Many of you know that I have been working on a plans built gyroplane. My project was born in April of 2006 and a little more than four years later is close to completion. My latest purchase of Dragon Wing Rotor Blades was received just a couple of day ago. Ernie at Rotor Flight Dynamics does beautiful work.

This is one of the two blades that make up my 24 foot rotor blades. They shine like nothing else.
